UNITED DENTAL HOSPITAL OF SYDNEY

Consolidated Quality Projects was awarded the major contract for the Concrete Repair, Protective Coatings and Window Remediation of the Dental Hospital. In addition to the demanding specification the works needed to address very important issues that were of concern to the Hospital such as public safety and noise generated by the demolition activity that would affect the Hospital's administration.

The works performed, along with the associated responsibilities undertaken by Consolidated, met all expectations set by the Hospital and the Central Sydney Area Health Service. Particular acknowledgement is given to Consolidated's on-site supervisor who co-ordinated the principals superintendent with the various material suppliers representatives regarding quality inspections and kept good open lines of communication and involved the Hospital through the project.

The Hospital was impressed by the competency of each workman and with the stability of the site personnel over the projects entire duration. Furthermore, we were pleased that a contract of this size, and considering variation costs, was successfully completed without a suggestion of any reference to dispute.

Finally, The Hospital is extremely happy with the quality of works and the appearance of this historically significant building. The cooperative manner shown by your men ensured a most satisfactory outcome.

Yours faithfully

Dear Steve,

RE: DENTAL HOSPITAL

Ardex, the supplier of Sheltercoat "Facade" is proud to be associated with the building facade refurbishment of the Dental Hospital.

Facade was proposed as a suitable protective coating for incorporation into the restoration works as it met and exceeded the performance criteria set down by the specifying organization, Gutteridge, Haskins and Davey (GHD) Engineers. Sheltercoat Facade was ultimately approved for application on this project.

Ardex's representative for waterproofing membranes and protective coatings, Gordon Kinney, participated in the products application at the various stages of the systems superposition. The quality testing produced impressive results in relation to film thickness and adhesion which surpassed the requirement of the Specification. These results are a testament to the skill levels of the applicators and is a pleasing reflection on the attitude that Consolidated takes in regard to its expectation of a high standard of workmanship on this and all its projects that Ardex has been involved with.

The Dental Hospital is a high profile and recognisable building and one which its concrete structure will be protected by Sheltercoat Facade and its enhanced architectural appearance preserved for many years to come.

Yours faithfully,

Gordon Kinney
